

VAST OHIO VALLEY IS GREAT INLAND SEA, THREATENING TO ENGULF LOWER MISSISSIPPI, FROM CAIRO TO N. ORLEANS

Engineers Work Like Beavers to Strengthen the Levees in Anticipation of Raging Waters—Conservatively Estimate Number of Homeless at 900,000—Known Dead Reach Total of 132.

(By International News Service)

The vast Ohio Valley today was a great inland sea, threatening to engulf the Lower Mississippi Valley from Cairo to New Orleans.

Above and below Memphis, engineers worked like beavers to strengthen levees along the Mississippi in anticipation of the great flood of waters from the raging Ohio which has already spread death, destruction and untold suffering over a dozen states.

As the Ohio slowly receded at Cincinnati and elsewhere in the upper valley, it continued its rise along the lower reaches, causing further evacuation of Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky and Missouri river towns.

Authorities conservatively estimated the number of homeless at 900,000 today, placed the number of known dead at 132, but reluctantly admitted hundreds more may have lost their lives in the raging torrent.

The work of rehabilitation was begun at Cincinnati.
Louisville sent out a call for police reinforcements to halt loot-ing. Cairo evacuated, and Memphis prepared to succor an army of 50,000 refugees who will be forced to flee from their homes when the crest of the flood moves from the Ohio into the Mississippi. Between these cities whole towns were under water, thousands of acres of lush farm land inundated, and privation and suffering and misery was on every hand.

Regions miles from the banks of the Ohio suffered as tributary waters, backed up by the choked Ohio, spread over their banks.

Cincinnati suffered from an acute water shortage today, a situation which authorities expected to partially remedy, however, by directing privately-owned artesian wells and springs into the city mains. The danger of an epidemic from polluted water was serious.

Red Cross authorities reported the relief situation in Cincinnati, Jamil-ton County, and in Northern Kentucky
"well in hand."

The flood waters coursed through the streets of Louisville, two stories high in some areas. The city was virtually under martial law. With the river at a flood stage of 56.9 feet, government meteorologist, J. L. Kendall, declared "the worst is over," but the scourge of pestilence hung over the miserable city.

More than 2,300 cases of illness due to bad sanitation and exposure have been reported in Louisville since the Ohio began eddying through the city six days ago. Dr. Hugh Rodman Leavell, director of health, revealed today,
He said:

"Over 200 persons have died in the last three days from contagious diseases, pneumonia, influenza, and other ailments that have been aggravated by the flood situation.

"To battle the destruction by disease that is hanging over us we have enlisted the services of 600 physicians, 150 nurses, dozens of dentists, and all the junior and senior internes from all hospitals in this area."

Pistol reports echoed through the streets, terrifying the residents, as police and militiamen shot stray dogs, hungry and wolf-like, foraging the streets.

All but one restaurant in Louisville is closed. Power has been shut off.
The water supply dwindled. Most of the city's 350,000 residents sought refuge in the hills. Fire plagued the city.
A lumberyard fire burned apace early today, firemen helpless to halt the roaring flames.

Apologizes For Traffic Violation; Sends Check

A certain Bucks County resident, according to Magistrate J. Fred Tiffenbach, Philadelphia, should receive a gold medal.

The candidate for the honor is Henry D. Paxson, Jr., of "Elm Grove," Holmead, who admitted that he was guilty of a traffic violation, forwarded a letter of apology to the Philadelphia police department and to the patrolman involved, and accompanied said letter by a check for $12.25.

The ticket was given Paxson on January 15th for passing a trolley car on the left on York Road at Greenwood avenue, Philadelphia. "Instead of the dirty letters I usually get threatening to appeal, here is somebody sensible enough to admit his guilt and enclose a check," stated the magistrate.

DR. STEINMETZ TO SPEAK

The Rev. Philip H. Steinmetz, assistant rector of St. Paul's Church in Elkins Park, will speak on the subject of "Communism and the Kingdom of God" in the Bristol Methodist Church tonight. This is the third in the series of special church night services being conducted to show the relation of Christianity to modern philosophies.
The Rev. Steinmetz has a background of training which makes him an authority in his field. The service begins at 7:30 p. m., each Wednesday night, with the address at eight p. m.

A RIVER OF FIRE ADDS TO FLOOD CONDITIONS

When several huge gasoline tanks broke loose from their moorings in Cincinnati, sending thousands of gallons of motor fuel swirling across the flood waters, a veritable river of fire ensued, adding new terrors to the harrowing experiences suffered by victims in the stricken area.

BUCKS COUNTY INCLUDED IN CULTURAL OLYMPICS

Four Counties Included In Limited Territory; Inaugurated by U. of P.

PARTS OF N. J. AND DEL.

The limited territory to be covered this year in the Cultural Olympics inaugurated by the University of Pen-sylvania will include Delaware, Bucks Montgomery and Philadelphia counties, according to detailed plans for the project announced by Dr. Frederick C. Gruber, director.

In addition to the four Pennsylvania counties, entries also will be received from Camden, Gloucester and Cape May counties in New Jersey, and from the Wilmington area in Delaware.

The program in the Cultural Olympics, designed to promote the cultural interests of individuals and communities, will begin with a series of district and regional exhibitions in April and will be brought to a close with a festival at the University in May.

Work in four major fields of cultural activity—music, graphic and plastic arts, speech and literature, and the dance—will be featured, and the participants will be divided into three age groups.

Included in the first group, designated as a preparatory non-competitive class will be children under 12 years of age. A junior group will consist of boys and girls from 12 to 15, and the third group, listed as the senior group, will take in all participants 16 years of age or older.

According to Dr. Gruber, an invitation to enroll as members of the Arrest Bristol Man For Overloading Truck

QUAKERTOWN, Jan. 27.—Operators of two trucks carrying an overload of bootleg coal, were arrested here yesterday by Chief of Police Harry Welsh.
In default of payment of a fine of $50 and costs they were committed to the Bucks County Prison for 10 days.

Foster Graw, 20, of 600 Linden street, Bristol, was arrested for carrying an overload of 2200 pounds. His truck's lawful capacity was 13,000 pounds and he carried 15,520.

Richard Menaquale, 26, of 421 Chestnut street, Camden, N. J., carried an overload of 6100 pounds. His truck had a capacity of 18,000 and the load weighed 24,100 pounds.

Both men were given hearings before Justice of the Peace Howard E.
Shive.

REV. R. HETHERINGTON DIES IN M. E. HOSPITAL

Former Bristol Resident Had Served in Ministry for 45 Years

The Rev. Robert Hetherington, a former well known resident of Bristol, died last evening at 11 o'clock in the Methodist Hospital, Philadelphia, where he had been a patient since Monday night. He was the son of the late Robert and Ann Hetherington, of Bristol.

The Rev. Hetherington was a native of Bristol and as a member of the Bristol M. E. Church entered the ministry.
He, during his youth, attended the Bristol public schools and then graduated from Drew Seminary and Princeton University. He served in the ministry for about 45 years and retired last March. He resided at 5554 Cobbs Creek Parkway, Philadelphia.

Surviving the deceased are his wife, three sisters, Mrs. Emma Schleiser, Miss Anna and Miss Bertha Hetherington; one brother, George Hetherington.

During his 45 years in the ministry Rev. Hetherington served a number of churches including those located at Easton, North Wales, Manayunk and Conshohocken.

Upon a number of occasions Rev.
Hetherington visited here and spoke in the Bristol M. E. Church.

Not feeling in the best of health for some time the Rev. Hetherington was planning a trip to Florida but was advised not to by his physician. His condition became worse and Monday evening he was removed to the hospital.

The Junior Catholic Daughters were on a retreat at the Convent of Dominican Sisters, Philadelphia, Sunday.

Twenty members from Bristol attended: Winifred Kelly, Pauline Patterson, Anna Oliver, Doris Dolan, Isabel Heath, Alice Adams, Eleanor Dugan, Katharine Wade, Regina Mc-Donald, Elizabeth Nelson, Regina
Peterson, Elizabeth Mulligan, Rita Mc-Hugh, Ruth Armstrong, Betty Louder, Elizabeth McCahan, Jean Doyle, Ja-queline Wooley, Doris Scott, Mary Fallon.

The councillors attending were the Misses Beale Rafferty, Mary and Margaret Roarty, Angeline Riley, Mary Clardy and Anita E. Lynn. Jacqueline Wooley took part in a tableau.

AMERICANIZATION CLASS PRESENTED WITH FLAG

Gift of Elks Lodge Presented To WPA Class Through Bracken Post of Legion

J. L. KILCOYNE SPEAKS

A handsome American flag was presented to the WPA Americanization class in the class-room at 305 Wood street last evening. The banner, the gift of Bristol Lodge, No. 970, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, was presented during a ceremony arranged by the Robert W. Bracken Post, 392, American Legion.

The address of the evening was delivered by John Leslie Kilcoyne, Esq., a past exalted ruler of the local lodge of Elks. Mr. Kilcoyne also presented the banner which was received by Miss Dora Thompson, in charge of the WPA school project here.

The class-room was filled with adult students and friends for the ceremony.

In opening his address Mr. Kilcoyne outlined the advantages accruing to those who become citizens of the United States of America. Three outstanding benefits were mentioned from such a step: "You are enabled to say what you please; when you become an American citizen you have the right to worship your God in any way you see fit; and thirdly you have the right to call every piece of property which you earn and own, your very own."

This condition was then contrasted by Mr. Kilcoyne with conditions in some foreign countries, in Russia under Stalin, in Italy under Mussolini, and in Germany under the dictatorship of Hitler. "In Italy nothing can be printed in the newspapers but what Mussolini wants printed. . . . In Germany a man is persecuted for his religious belief, and his property is confiscated. Contrast these things with the benefits which will accrue when you become a citizen of the United States of America."

The speaker reminded members of the class who are preparing to become citizens of this country of the duties toward the United States that will devolve upon them. "You must obey the laws, and adhere to our form of government. You must be willing and ready at any time to take up arms and to lay down your life, if necessary, to protect this country. . . . Furthermore when you become citizens you have the right to say who will represent you in your government, and a right to say how you will be governed." Mr. Kilcoyne told that the B.
P. O. Elks is dedicated to Americanism.

"It is fitting that the Elks Lodge should present you with this flag. It is also fitting that the American Legion should sponsor this school."

Continuing he said "This flag is the crystallization of all that is American.

County Solicitor Dies of Heart Trouble at Norristown

NORRISTOWN, Jan. 27.—W. Russell Green, 46, one of the best known Republican workers in Montgomery county, and a County Solicitor of that county, died yesterday in the United States Naval Hospital in Philadelphia, as the result of a heart ailment.

He was a veteran of the World War, having served overseas with distinction.

Mr. Green was a native of Mercer county, N. J., and for the past 18 years had lived at 440 Woodlawn avenue, Narberth, Pa. He had been ill for several months and had undergone treatment in the Naval Hospital.

The deceased was the son-in-law of Bucks County Register of Wills Mahlon Rickert, of Sellersville. On numerous occasions during Republican campaigns Mr. Green spoke in Bucks county towns.

He attended George School and Swarthmore College, from which institution he graduated. He was a member of the lacrosse team at Swarthmore. He graduated from the University of Pennsylvania law school in 1916.

Mr. Green served overseas with the Fourth Army Corps Artillery and after the Armistice had been signed, General Pershing assigned him as a lecturer in the Army of Occupation. After the World War he attended the Wharton School for one year and was later connected with the Charles E. Hires Company's advertising and legal department for seven years. He started to practice law in Montgomery county in 1927.

The deceased was at one time solicitor for the Narberth school board. He was a past president of the Rotary Club of Bala-Cynwyd, a past commander of the Donald Speakman Post of the American Legion at Narberth, and at one time headed the Friends' Home, Germantown.

The survivors include the wife, Mrs.
Gertrude (Rickert) Green; and three sons, Trudell, 16, and Stanley, students at Friends' Academy, and David.

We give it to you that it may inspire you."

After accepting the banner on behalf of the class, Miss Thompson called upon Pasquale Campanara, president of the class, who in a brief message told of appreciation for the gift. Miss Thompson then told the gathering that the Americanization class meets on each Tuesday and Friday evening, to learn to read and write the English language.

The program closed with the salute to the flag and the singing of "America."

Seated on the platform with the speaker were the following members of Bracken Post: Joseph A. Schreiber, Sr., Americanization officer; I. Johnston Hetherington, service officer; Jacob C. Schmidt, Jr., past district commander of the American Legion; Robert Downing, adjutant; Fred Bryner, color sergeant; Henry Elmer.

The classes on Tuesday and Friday evenings are for Italians; with the advanced classes being arranged for in the day-time. In the day-classes are English, Polish, Ukrainian and Russian people. The evening classes have an average attendance of 25, with the enrollment being 70. A group of colored men and women also meets in the same building, where they are learning to read and write.

a Colorado bank robbery in which the bandits were tracked because of a lone print left on the handle of an automobile.

Reynolds gave a brief account of the laboratory of the Department of Justice in Washington explained the use of various devices where the make of bullets, tire treads, dirt, blood, handwriting, typewriting are identified with the help of thirty experts.

The D. J. agent also stated how criminals such as "Pretty Boy" Floyd, John Dillinger, Kelly, Barker and Karpis were tracked down. He praised the department for solving almost every major crime, and said that bank robberies have dropped from sixteen a month to four a month. He also gave credit to the local authorities who helped the Government agents to run down the criminals.

The affair was the first of a series of educational programs to be presented by the St. Ann's Athletic Association. Other speakers were Anthony Russo, Bucks County Detective; J. Leslie Kilcoyne, a member of the bar, and S. Joseph Alta, president of the St. Ann's Athletic Association.

Kilcoyne and Russo spoke of crime and gave a few experiences that confronted them while in the course of their duties. Alta gave the introductory remarks and explained to the audience the purpose of the programs which will be held frequently.

Cultural Olympics is extended to all public and private schools, and to social agencies and similar organizations engaging in one or more of the cultural activities included in the project. Individuals seeking to enter must attach themselves to one of these local groups.

During March, or before, each local group will select the best examples of its work for presentation at an exhibition to be conducted in its district.

The district exhibitions will be held during the first three weeks in April. Co-operation and the sharing of experiences, rather than competition, will be stressed at these district exhibitions, and no awards will be made there.

Near the close of April there will be held regional exhibitions at which the best work from the district exhibitions will be featured. From these regional exhibitions, in turn, will be selected the work to be exhibited at the final festival of the year which will be held at the University in May.

There will be no registration fee for the Cultural Olympics, and registration blanks may be obtained by communicating with the office of the director in Blanchard Hall on the University campus.

No professional will be permitted to participate in the project, a "professional" being defined by the committee in charge as one "who earns the major part of his living by work in a particular cultural field."

The idea of the Cultural Olympics was conceived by Samuel S. Fleisher, head of the Graphic Sketch Club, who visualizes in the project a medium through which latent talent in cultural pursuits may be stimulated; just as the ideal of physical development is stimulated by the Olympic Games.

Financial support from George H. Johnson, president of Lit Brothers, has made possible the inauguration of the project this year by the School of Education of the University of Pennsylvania.

In addition to those two men the committee in charge includes Dr. John H. Minnick, dean of the School of Education at Pennsylvania; Dr. E. Dun-

NO SISSY

"I'm a Chief Operator and I'd like to tell you something about these girls who work with me. For instance, during the flood last Spring, when we were swamped with calls, some of these girls worked many hours at a stretch without sleep. Finally I thought one slim little operator was going to crack, so I sent her home. She left, but an hour later I found her back at the switchboard, working like fury. She said she didn't want to be a sissy. That's typical of the spirit of service these girls have—and it doesn't take a flood to bring it out."

Thousands of people have found the telephone a priceless aid in emergencies. Millions more find it indispensable for the everyday business of living—for running errands, shopping, making appointments and friendly calls. No modern home is complete without at least one telephone. You can have one in your home for less than a dime a day and two or three cents a day pays for an extension. Just call the Business Office—or ask any telephone employee.

BRISTOL HIGH J. V. UPSETS FALLS TEAM

By Louis Tomlinson

Trailing 15-13 with only 10 seconds to play, Fred Kalencki stepped to the foul line and proved he was a real money man by coolly sinking both shots that cleared the net very neatly, when Bristol High J. V.'s played Fallsington here last night.

The score was thus tied and the crowd went wild with joy, for in less than five seconds later the game was over. So an extra period had to be played. A three-minute overtime quarter was thus started.

Pete De Luca and Pat Cappecci, the two outstanding individuals locally, continued their scoring assault by adding a double-decker each. Heru Corn tallied a foul for the other point. Falls scored only one field goal.

Pete De Luca led the scoring with nine points, followed closely by Pat Cappecci who had eight to his credit. For the visitors, Castro stood out with seven points for his evening's work.

Bristol, 29; Fallsington, 17.

During the halves the fans were treated to some very good and interesting wrestling matches between members of the local squad who performed for exhibition as well as for experience. And the crowd really got a "kick" out of it.

The matches ran for four minutes' duration with no decisions given for the simple reason that they were exhibition and practice matches, and not competitive. The match that excited the fans more than any other was that between George Monus and Roy Hatcher.

The matches and opponents were: Hardy Johnson and John Melido, both freshmen; Roy Hatcher and George Monus, both seniors; Al Cordisco and Joe Chillelo, both sophomores; Carman Mignoni, senior, and William Dorster, junior.

All matches were evenly and cleanly contested, and whereas some did better than others, all showed promise of developing into future school talent.

Second Round of Pool "Tourney" Ends Tomorrow

The second round of the Bristol Pool Tournament will close tomorrow night when Willie Manera meets Henny Morgan in a 125-point match in the St. Ann's club-house. The semi-finals will begin next week. Last night, Otto Manera eliminated Charles Oriola from the tourney by a 125-91 score.

Both players appeared off form in the match. The highest run of the tilt was 10, and was made by Oriola. Manera's high run was nine. Both cueists had six scratches.

Score by racks:
Manera 5 5 11 14 10 8 6 2 12 1
Oriola 8 9 3 0 4 6 8 12 2 13

STAN PINTO HEADS LIST OF GRAPPLERS ON ROSTER

TRENTON, Jan. 27.—Tonight's wrestling card at the Arena will be epete with mat heroes as well as enemy grapplers—the boys who draw the Bronx cheers and make threatening gestures at the ringsters.

Heading the list of the fans favorite grapplers will be Stan Pinto, who aces Cliff Olson, unpopular title lalant, in the featured best two all out of three, 90-minute time limit setto. Pinto's popularity is due solely to the decided unpopularity of Olson and not any of his own virtues. Cliff ated a top berth in badman division. Another well-liked matman, Frank Boroniewicz, Polish champion, will make his first appearance in almost two years when he answers the gong against Bill Slege, a rough-house newcomer, who has been going strong in Philadelphia and New York.

George McLeod, who has been undefeated in five starts at the Arena, ackles one of the rowdiest newcomers ever to get a press notice, Al Sparks, of Savannah, Ga. Sparks comes east with a reputation as a "killer" and McLeod will have to look to his laurels to get by this highly touted stranger.

The match between Abe Goldberg, popular Hebrew from California, and Ted Keys, U. C. L. A. football goat and hero, that was postponed last week because of the slight attack of flu suffered by both men, will be contested Wednesday night. Goldberg has always been popular with the fans and will try to get over the defeat he suffered by Pinto several weeks ago. Able claims he was ill that night. Keys comes with a fine reputation as a matman.

It is a well balanced card and brings new faces that have risen to the fore in the mat game.

High School Basketeers Take the League Lead

"Nick" Huffnell, who sank three pretty field goals for six points. He was closely followed by his team-mate and center, Charlie Hughes, who had five points, two field and a foul goal. For the losers, Fred Breigle with five points and George Roberts with four, were the outstanding individuals.

Falls stepped out to a 1-0 lead when Breigle scored a foul, but Hughes put Bristol in the lead with a two pointer scored when he blocked a pass, picked it up, and proceeded to dribble down the court unmolested to score. This was followed by a foul scored by Zeffert, but George Roberts waded through the locals' defense to hang up two points for his team that tied the score, 2-2. Mr. Roberts then stuck a beautiful one hand shot to put Falls ahead, 5-3. Before the period ended, however they evened things 5-5 when Huffnell netted two points when he scored from below the cords on a pass from Profy.

In the second period, Fallsington stepped away to a 3-point lead at the end of the first half, 9-6. This occurred while the varsity second team of the Red and Gray was on the floor. A pass from Cappiello to Vic Roberts added two points to the Orange and Black total. Van Lenten scored a foul making the score 7-6; but Breigle tallied a twin pointer beneath the net on a rebound from a missed foul shot. The score as the half ended was 9-6, with Fallsington ahead.

It was a third period rally that shot Bristol out in front of Fallsington for the first time since early in the opening period. Breigle had started and ended the first half scoring so decided he'd do likewise in the second half, at least as far as starting the latter half scoring was concerned. He tallied the two points by dribbling in to score under the net. However, Huffnell intercepted a pass and dribbled down the floor for two more points for Bristol. This made the score, 11-8. George Roberts was expelled from the fray on fouls. The receiver, Phil Carnvale, made the most of the foul tosses by counting both shots, leaving the Cards only one point south of Fallsington. Then just before the quarter ended, Nick Huffnell, standing on the white line from the foul-line, calmly and neatly arched the sphere clear through the net to put the Bunnies ahead, 12-11, a lead they never lost thenceforth.

Tom Profy counted a foul throw shortly after the start of the final period to give Bristol a two-point lead. This was quickly reduced to a one-point lead again when Schaffer also netted a foul immediately after Profy. Hughes stretched the lead to two points again by adding a foul to the total. Punk Zeffert's foul gave them a 15-12 lead. In a scrimmage under Bristol's net Charlie Hughes grabbed the ball and hit the cords for a double decker, ending the locals' scoring for the night. Chewing concluded the evening's scoring by sticking a field goal on a rebound. A minute later the game ended.

Final score: Bristol, 17; Fallsington, 14.

Vast Ohio Valley Is Great Inland Sea medicines, food and clothing made perilous landings on the mushy airport.

Below Louisville evacuation of Illinois, Indiana and Kentucky towns continued.

By Charles E. Blake
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 27.—Fire threatening to destroy a $5,000,000 lumber yard sent new fears and panic through the 330,000 residents of this flood-bound town early today.

The fire broke out late last night just as the populace was rejoicing over an official report that the raging Ohio River had not risen in more than 10 hours.

High waters in the streets surrounding the lumber yard prevented firemen from reaching the scene. Unrestrained, the flames leaped hundreds of feet into the sky and could be seen from every section of Louisville.

Another slight rise in the Ohio today to 57.1 feet, and forecast for rain today, spread a pall of gloom over flood stricken Louisville today. With more than 30 of the 40 square miles under from 2 to 30 feet of water, and the city without electricity or adequate supplies, and the river rising, would add more disaster.

The menace of fires, and scattering conflagrations during the last 48 hours have added to the horror.

Edward F. Schimpler, public works engineer in a written estimate, set the total fire damage at $2,000,000.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 27.—Racing against time, an army of men worked frantically to strengthen the levee system of the lower Mississippi River.

The flood waters rolling down from the Ohio River and other tributaries of the Mississippi, will give the vast levee system, erected in 1927, its first major test.

PRAGUE—(INS)—Two coaches of a train were derailed by a man's wooden leg at Saky, in Slovakia. The man, Ludwig Pelyl, aged 26, committed suicide by throwing himself in front of the train. His wooden leg caused the coaches to run off the line.

Why bring this up now?

JUST at the time when business and industry are emerging from the depression... when re-employment by the railroads, industries, farms and business of Pennsylvania shows that recovery is on the way... two bills are before the Pennsylvania Legislature which threaten a disastrous blow at the hopeful forces that are working toward better times.

These are (1) the so-called "Full Crew" bill, in reality an Excess Crew bill, which arbitrarily adds men to train crews where they are not needed, and (2) the Train Limit bill which would reduce the length of trains to sizes uneconomic and wasteful under modern railroad practice.

These proposals are disguised as safety measures. As a matter of fact, readily provable, they will not advance railroad safety. Statistics show that during the past ten years, as trains have been lengthened, speeds increased, and modern motive power and equipment introduced, railroad operation has become progressively safer.

Under the excess crew bill an additional brakeman would ride in the caboose of a freight train along with the conductor and rear brakeman. He would have nothing to do. Such an excess man is no more necessary than an extra operator on an elevator, or an extra man behind a plow.

The "Train Limit" bill would increase the number of trains now operating and it is easy enough to see that this would add to rather than decrease the possibility of employee hazards. To limit the size of freight trains would automatically scrap equipment designed and built for efficient and economical distribution of the products of Pennsylvania's mines, farms and shops. It would nullify the great advances in operating methods which have developed an improved service to meet the public needs in a highly competitive field. It would set railroad transportation back 20 years.

Naturally, should the two bills become law, the immediate effect will be an increase in train service employment. But sooner or later they are bound to cause reduced employment in all branches of railroad service as well as in other industries throughout the state. Any temporary benefit would be within a limited group—train service employees—already preferred as to wages, hours, and working conditions. At least 80% of all railroad workers would receive no benefit at all. On the contrary many of them would suffer loss or curtailment of employment. Such laws are class legislation and unfair.

The enactment of this legislation would mean an estimated additional cost of $71,600,000 annually to the railroads of Pennsylvania... cost which inevitably would be reflected in higher rates. Such basic industries as coal and steel would be seriously affected by any unjustifiable freight rate increase on raw materials and finished products. This would be true also of all other industries. Increased transportation cost would tend to encourage certain industries to move to other states. The disastrous effect of such migration and readjustment would be felt by every citizen of the state.

What a blow this would be to the millions of people and families of Pennsylvania dependent on the railroads directly and indirectly for livelihood! The railroads buy millions of dollars of material and supplies for current operations. The purchases from farmers and merchants of the 116,000 railroad wage earners and their families in Pennsylvania amount to millions of dollars annually.

Experience has proved the wisdom of lodging with a competent state body the necessary discretion to regulate the adequacy of train crews and other features of railroad operation. Since 1921 the Public Service Commission of Pennsylvania has had jurisdiction over such matters. In addition, the railroads, fully realizing their responsibility to employees and public, exercise the highest degree of care both in the movement of trains and in the maintenance of equipment and property. Every humane and economic consideration dictates the use of the greatest prudence in operation without statutory requirements.

RECOVERY IS ON THE WAY — LET'S NOT STOP IT!

Let's keep the track clear of unwise and ill-considered legislation which would discourage the initiative and destroy the progress that have put the railroads, the people and industries of Pennsylvania in the vanguard of the march toward better times.
